INTRODUCTION

The original concept for an International Symposium on Therapeutic Recreation was based upon the model of the Midwest Symposium on Therapeutic Recreation, held annually in the United States. This model emphasizes the practice of therapeutic recreation along with research, development and sharing of ideas that will ultimately benefit persons with disabilities and persons who are elderly. The reader will find this focus evident in the papers in these selected proceedings.

The University of Missouri and Indiana University have a rich history in cooperative efforts in the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, where the first and second International Symposiums on Therapeutic Recreation were held in 1989 and 1991.

The 3RD INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON THERAPEUTIC RECREATION was held in Richmond Hills, Ontario, Canada and was sponsored by the University of Missouri, Indiana University and the Ontario Recreation Society in cooperation with the Canadian Park and Recreation Association.

We extend our thanks to the steering committee of the 3RD INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON THERAPEUTIC RECREATION for their dedication, time, energy and direction:
